

Alex Tai

Director of Operations
Virgin Galactic

Trained as a pilot in the Royal Air Force, Alex started his career with Virgin as an airline pilot for Virgin Atlantic before embarking on special projects for Richard Branson. Alex has been working on the Galactic project from conception, standing next to Paul Allen and Burt Rutan in mission control at the first X Prize flight. As Director of Operations at Virgin Galactic, Alex oversees the design and build of the new spacecraft (SS2) and plans to pilot the first commercial flight.
